  - (6) If the Landlord discovers and confirms afterwards that the Tenant was not a student enrolled at National Taiwan University at the time of signing of the Agreement, the Landlord may terminate the Agreement without notice.
4. In the event the Landlord has any one of the following circumstances, the Tenant may terminate the Agreement:

In addition, the Landlord may request the Tenant to pay an amount equivalent to the rent for the period when the leased premise is not returned as well as a penalty of one times of such amount (the rent shall be calculated on a daily basis if the period is less than a month) until the Tenant returns the leased premise. The Landlord may deduct such relevant costs and penalty directly from the Tenant's security deposit (deposit).
- 3. If the Tenant fails to conduct handover of the leased premise with the Landlord when moving out and still fails to do so within the three-day period specified by the Landlord's notice, the handover shall be considered to have been completed and shall be as deemed by the Landlord, and the Tenant shall not have any objection thereto.
- 4. For any personal effects left by the Tenant at the dormitory upon expiration or termination of the Agreement, the Landlord does not bear any custodial responsibility. When the Tenant fails to clear its personal effects after moving out of the dormitory, the Landlord may clear the dormitory and move such personal effects to another location for storage and notify the Tenant to retrieve his/her personal effects within a specified period. If the Tenant fails to retrieve the personal effects, it shall be deemed that the Tenant has waived and released all rights and title to such personal effects, and the Landlord may dispose of such personal effects as wastes. All costs related to clearing and storage arising therefrom shall be deducted from the Tenant's security deposit (deposit).
